

LACTATION POLICY

Office of Equal Opportunity (OEO)

Purpose: to support the needs of nursing and lactating individuals returning to work, school or visiting campus

Applicability: This policy applies to nursing individuals including students, faculty, staff and third parties as defined in the Tufts Non-Discrimination Policy

Policy Owner: Katherine Vosker, Accommodation Manager, OEO

Revised: August 2024

Tufts University is committed to supporting and meeting the needs of nursing individuals returning to work, school or visiting the Tufts campus. Lactation is a protected category under federal and state law as well as under Tufts policy. Any individual who is lactating is also protected from retaliation during their academic and or/professional endeavors at Tufts for participating in their nursing or lactating needs.

Any nursing individual who is a member of the Tufts community (faculty, staff, students, applicants, patients, visitors, community members, vendors, contractors and otherwise defined in the Non-Discrimination Policy (<https://oeo.tufts.edu/policies-procedures/non-discrimination/>)) can use the designated lactation rooms, which are located on all the University campuses. Faculty, staff and students are also entitled to reasonable breaks to express breast milk and should be afforded sufficient time to travel to and from their nearest lactation room.

The designated lactation rooms are private, clean, shielded from view and free from intrusion by others. Each room has a comfortable chair, a table or desk and sufficient electrical outlets near the chair. Each nursing individual must provide their own pump, storage container, cooler and labels. Although refrigerators are not provided, the Office of Equal Opportunity (OEO) will assist in securing a small refrigerator to store the milk as needed. All lactation room users are expected to clean the space after each use. Please allow adequate time for cleanup and trash disposal within each visit.

The lactation rooms can be reserved at reserve.tufts.edu. Select “lactation room” as the room type to find the lactation room you want to reserve.

See table below for additional information about locations, hours and who to contact on-site for assistance if there is an issue with the lactation room.
